Diversity in ministry

While we continue to teach at the Assemblies of God Bible School and preach in local churches, new areas of ministry have been the recent highlights.

Short-term missions team

We have had the privilege and blessing of hosting our first short-term missions team. The Southeastern Spanish District Ambassador in Mission (AIM) Team had an exciting week of children outreaches and school assemblies. About 200 children attended the weekend outreaches, resulting in more than 90 kids and 60 parents confessing Jesus as Lord and Savior. Some are already attending the local church and in a discipleship course. Over 550 elementary, middle and high schoolers were ministered to during two days of assemblies at a Latin America Child Care school located in a very needy, high gang activity and drug trafficking area of San Jose.

Global University

We continue to regularly receive inquiries, applications and new student enrollments for the undergraduate programs. Also, interest in discipleship and leadership training resources among local churches has recently increased. We are receiving requests for assistance in implementation of these resources as an integral part of the church's Christian education program.

Pastoral mentoring

Another two pastors have recently asked us to be their mentors. We consider this a special privilege and are humbled by such responsibility. We continue to see that it is God's timing to begin this facet of our ministry.

Thank you!

We are fulfilling God's call through the continuous prayers and faithful financial support of churches and friends. Thank you so much for partnering with us!
