

Morales Memo

February 2017

Each new year provides us with a few moments to reflect on the past and gives us meaningful time to plan an amazing year to come. Here is our recap of what has recently taken place and what we hope for in 2017.

Bible Schools

The Ngöbe indigenous Bible School we launched in 2015 will begin its third year in a few weeks. The Youth Bible School we started last year continues strong and hopes to expand into other provinces this year. National church leaders recently approved our proposal for a Missions Bible School. Classes will begin very soon. Hundreds of students throughout the country are responding to the call of God and are preparing for effective ministry.

Latin America Resource & Training Center

Last year, over 850 leaders, directors and professors participated in the International Bible School Leaders Summits held in Panama and Bolivia. This year, we focus on organizing national training seminars. We already have seminars scheduled for seven countries in the region, and hope to arrange a few more in the upcoming weeks. We are committed to the high priority of preparing national leaders and training ministers to pass on ministry to others (2 Timothy 2:2).

Missions Mobilization

Last year, the Assemblies of God of Panama sent new missionaries to India, the Canaries (Spain) and North Africa. This year, they will launch missionaries to the United States, Eastern Eurasia and other nations. Many of them are working among unreached people groups that desperately need to hear the good news of Jesus. We have the privilege of mentoring these new missionaries as they meet with pastors, visit churches, raise awareness and develop their support base. We guide them in making important decisions including budgets and language studies. We believe this is only the beginning of a new generation of laborers the Lord is raising up from Panama to reach the nations.

Thank you friends! Together we continue to make a difference in the lives of so many people in Panama and throughout Latin America.
